EndNote
How to search and add notes in Research field

Another way to add notes to your EndNote references, is by adding notes in the Research Notes field. These notes can be anything you like. For instance, they can be about the record itself or you use ‘tags’ to categorise your record, which you can then search for.

Adding notes to the Research Notes field

Select your record/reference that you want to add a note to and then scroll down on the right-hand pane until you see the Research Notes field.

Add your note:

You can search for words within your Research Notes.

Select Research Notes in the search box:

Type the word(s) you want to search for and click on Search:
EndNote will find all references with that word in the Research Notes field.